Softwaremanagement (DevOps) for C++ Developer (m/f)

For our software management team we are looking for people who want to take responsibility for our software production. Together we manage, translate and deliver more than 500 modules on different platforms.

Your tasks:

- Production and deployment of our product range on all common platforms.
- Contact/communication with all development teams and support them, e.g. with compilation issues on the different platforms.
- Creation and management of (HotFix) branches and versions
- Support of the R&D colleagues in questions around version control
- Further development of the system based on scripts, C++ tools or/and our own process platform Papyrus Objects.

Your profile:

- C/C++ knowledge must be available, e.g. to correctly interpret errors during compilation and to be able to assign them to the respective developers
- Very good knowledge of one of the following operating systems (Windows, Linux, Unix, Mac OS), e.g. to be able to create shell scripts. Unix experience desired, knowledge of the development process for Android and iOS an advantage.
- Ability to work in a team
- English spoken and written

Advantageous are:

- Knowledge of one of the version control systems CVS or GIT or alternative systems as well as of the code review system Gerrit and Jenkins for automation already during development.
- Knowledge of unix makefiles.
